(b) if so, the total quantity of plastic to be exported together with the names of the countries?

THE MINISTER OF STATE OF THE MINISTRY OF COMMERCE (SHRI P. CHIDAMBARAM): (a) At present no export of plastice (Polymers) from India is taking place becuase of law production and increased domestic demand. It is anticipated that due to increase in domestic production of plastic raw material during 1992-93, the dependability of the manufacturer-exporter of plastic based finished products on improted material will decrease and there may be nominal exports of raw plastic from the Country. However, exports of finsihed plastic products are expected to go up substantially during the year 1992-93.

(b) Export of plastic during 1992-93 will depend upon various factors such as cost of production, availability of inputs, prices of finished products in the international market and the gap in indigenous demand and supply. In view of this, and prediction regarding value or volume of export of plastic during the year 1992-93 would be premature. Major markets for plastic are Middle East, Africa, West Europe, Russian Federation, USA and Canada.
